NIPPN (Thailand) Co., Ltd. a Nippon Flour Mills Group Company
Strengthens Production Capability by 70% at Premix Plant in the Outskirts of Bangkok, Thailand

Nippon Flour Mills Co., Ltd. (Chairman, President, CEO & COO: Hiroshi Sawada) will expand the production lines of the premix plant of its Thai subsidiary, NIPPN (Thailand) Co., Ltd. (“NPT”), in the second phase of construction work that will be completed by November 2010. This will increase its production capacity by 70%.

Thailand and other Southeast Asian countries have served as a base for food supply to Japan and other countries, and the food processing industry is expected to further develop in this region. Our premix product business in Thailand began in 1996 with establishment of the local corporation Nippon Flour Mills (Thailand) Ltd. (“NFT”) which conducted sales and R&D along with consigned production based on our accumulated knowledge. In Thailand in recent years, needs for stable supply of high-quality premix products have increased in line with increased demands by Japan-based food processing companies. In response to the market growth, NPT was founded in 2006 and operation of the premix plant began operation in 2008. The high-quality, commercial-use premix products manufactured by our company with short lead time have been held in high regard by local customers, allowing our business to grow steadily.

NPT is determined to develop and expand its businesses globally, to countries neighboring Thailand, EU countries, and to the Middle East while striving to meet demands for quick and careful production utilizing leading-edge technologies, as well as increasingly strict food safety and security demands. This will be in collaboration with NFT, which has expanded the development team and facility site at the R&D Center.
